Why United Way?

With United Way, it's not about supporting one cause. In fact, it's something far more profound.

Each and every contribution becomes part of a major community building effort that works to achieve an inspiring vision. It's a vision where we all live with financial stability and independence, where all neighbourhoods are safe and residents have a sense of well-being, and where all children are getting the right start in life and have the support they need to get them through the middle years and their high school graduation.

At United Way, we bring together organizations, businesses, governments and community members who care about the issues we face in the Alberta Capital Region and make every effort possible to turn the vision into reality.

Together, we represent one of the most critical and extensive collaborative approaches for change.

We have participation by over 50 agency partners in the social services sector, delivering key community impact programs and initiatives. It is why, with United Way, donations and support go farther and wider than any other charitable investment a community member can make.

That's what a shared vision is about and what it takes to be the change we all want to see in our community.

“ Through United Way, we have witnessed passion for fundamental social change. We have seen positive growth not just in people, but also in the social conditions of the communities in which we reside. By supporting the United Way, we demonstrate leadership in our community, we build connections, and we provide positive impacts towards changing the lives of others.

Our support of United Way reinforces our vision and values. It is also an affirmation of our commitment to building the communities in which we live.
